DECIDES AS FOLLOWING:□

1. The BCR-C of Oregon Tool provides appropriate safeguards for the transfer of personal data in□

in accordance with Article 46(1),(2f) and Article 47 (1), (2) GDPR and hereby approves the BCR-C of□

Oregon Tool.□

2. However, before making use of the BCR it is the responsibility of the data exporter in a Member□

State, if needed with the help of the data importer, to assess whether the level of protection□ required by EU law is respected in the third country of destination, including onward transfer□ situations. This assessment has to be conducted in order to determine if the guarantees provided by BCRs can be complied with in practice, in light of the circumstances of the possible impingement created by the third country legislation with the fundamental rights and the circumstances surrounding the transfer. If this is not the case, the data exporter in a Member State, if needed with the help of the data importer, should assess whether it can provide supplementary measures to ensure an essentially equivalent level of protection as provided in the EU.

3. Where the data exporter in a Member State is not able to take supplementary measures necessary to ensure an essentially equivalent level of protection as provided in the EU, personal data cannot be lawfully transferred to a third country under this BCR. Therefore the data exporter is required to suspend or end the transfer of personal data. In such case if a Group Company envisages to transfer personal data to a third country nevertheless, it must notify the competent supervisory authority beforehand to enable that SA to ascertain whether the proposed transfer should be suspended or prohibited in order to ensure an adequate level of protection.

4. The approved BCRs will not require any specific authorization from the concerned supervisory authorities.

5. In accordance with Article 57.2.j GDPR, each concerned Supervisory Authority maintains the power to order the suspension of data flows to a recipient in a third country or to an international organization whenever the appropriate safeguards considered by the BCR-C of Oregon Tool are not respected.
